Transition:

1. Is your child returning next year? If not, what school will he/she attend?
2. Have you and your advocate made a plan for any changes (new school, after care, transportation, ECI or special services for speech or other assistance)?
3. What can I do to help your child become ready for next year?

Parent input into child's strengths: (Ask parents the following questions)

1. What is the biggest change you have seen in the way your child plays with or gets along with other children?
2. What two things are you most proud of your child for learning this year?

3. Have you seen a difference in how your child solves a problem? Tell me about what you noticed.

4. What is the biggest change you have seen in how your child communicates with you and others?

5. What is the most important thing you or your child has gotten out of reading together? Do you plan on continuing reading together?

6. What are some things you have learned about helping your child become school ready?

7. What is your or your child's favorite memory about this school year?

Review Family Conference Form from Teaching Strategies Gold.

Parent input into Learning/Curriculum:

What do you think would help your child grow or learn?

What are two things from the developing skills listed on the Family Conference Form (from the Spring or Summer Assessment) that we will commit to work on together?

2.

Tips for home:

- Continue reading to your child each evening before bed.
- Play outside in the evenings now that it is staying light longer.
- Challenge yourself to have “no TV” weekdays during July.
